Christening dress for six generations

Six generations of the descendants of Martha Henning *26-8-1857 have been christened in this christening dress. The bonnets for the babies are shown on the next page

People who have visited the Henning Virtual Museum on the Internet might have noticed that the Damfontein farm, in the district of Aliwal-North, plays an important role. This farm was a typical example of the farms of the earliest North-Eastern Cape Trekboer families. The second homestead on this farm was built in 1850 and several photos of this house can be seen in the museum, as well as the christening dress that this article is about.

a2.b7.c8.d1. Martha Johanna Elizabeth Henning, born 26 August 1857, was one of the first babies to be born in the Damfontein house. Her grandfather was a typical early nineteenth century trekboer and the first owner of the farm. Her father was married from this house early in 1856. She was the first born to her parents and grew up on Damfontein. In 1877 she married the Dutch teacher Herman Zurich. The Henning family appointed him to teach all the Henning and other children in the area.

The second child of Herman and Martha Zurich, was born on 23 October 1880 and she, in turn, married James Fowels in 1905 in East-London.

Baby girls wear the pink bonnet and baby boys the blue bonnet

Wilhelmina Zurich's sister, Anna Elizabeth Zurich *1882 (married Baker) made the christening dress for the Fowels couple a few months after Wilhelmina's marriage – in time for the christening of their first child, Lewis Basil Fowels, who was born on the 4th of March 1906. The christening ceremony was held three days later on the 7th of March 1906 in the chapel of St Saviour, East-London. The sister of Martha Zurich (born Henning), Annie Isabella Fuller (born Henning) *1877 and her husband George Sydney Fuller were the godparents of the new baby.

Afterwards the christening dress was first used for the christening of Iris in 1908, the second child of the Fowels couple, and then for the christening of her only son, Ole Kristian.

Wilhelmina Fowels (born Zurich), later on, married a Norwegian sea captain, Michael Olaus Landmark. She and her two children emigrated to Norway to join her new husband. The descendants of the family still live in Norway to this day.

When Lewis Basil Fowels, son of Wilhelmina (born Zurich), married the Norwegian maiden Solveig Tusvik in 1938, the christening dress was one of their wedding gifts. The couple had their three children [Bjarne Sigurd (1940), Ingebjørg Lindis (married Sørлие) (1942) and Ruth Søgnie (married Andersen) (1946)] christened in this dress. All of Bjarne, Ingebjørg and Ruth's children and grandchildren were also christened in the dress.

It has now come to our attention that Ingebjørg's first great grandchild, Pim Aleksander Langgård Fjellheim, who was born on the 6th of June 2020, was also christened in the dress – thus the sixth generation of this family. His parents are Rudi Aleksander Fjellheim and his wife Lene Marie Langgård Fjellheim and his grandfather and grandmother are Morten Langgård, born 13 April 1967 and Rita Sørлие(daughter of Ingebjørg), born 18 April 1967.

We can confirm that his family is still very proud of their South African ties. Great grandmother Ingebjørg Sørлие provided all the information and photos. Six consecutive generations of Martha Johanna Elizabeth Henning, born 26-8-1857, have been christened in this dress which makes it very special and surely a record for all Henning descendants.

Cornelis Belsazar Henning *17-1-1886

In the section on the military history of the Henning family there is a detailed discussion of the involvement of a2.b1.c6.d3.e11 Cornelis Belsazar Henning, born 17-1-1886, in the Anglo Boer War (ABW). He was only fourteen years old when he fought in this war and was wounded and captured. In Ons Haantjie 142 of May 2020 we also related the tale of the pipe that Cornelis' father, as a prisoner of war on the island of St Helena, made but gave it to him after the war.

a2.b1.c6.d3.e11. Cornelis Belsazar Henning, born 17-1-1886 and his wife , Susanna Francina (born Fouché) *19-10-1889

When the war broke out in October 1899 Cornelis accompanied his father, Pieter Hendrik Henning *30-7-1840, to join the Rouxville Commando. However, his name was not registered in the commando lists.

Fortunately there is supporting evidence – the letters from the Adjudant of the Rouxville Commando and a burger PW Vogel – that he was present at the battle at the Aliwal-North bridge on 10 March 1900 and was wounded by schrapnel.

During the battle his father's horse was hit in the hoof by schrapnel. Cornelis had to lift his father onto his horse to flee from the battle, thus saving his father's life.

Like his father, Cornelis was also captured by the British forces. His father was sent to a prisoner-of-war camp on the island of St Helena while Cornelis was held in Jamestown to be nursed.

After the war he had to walk back from Jamestown to their farm, Palmietfontein, in the Rouxville/Zastron district. Due to the hardships he had to suffer, his family almost did not recognise him and the scar on his left temple was visible until his death.

Eventually he acquired the farm Rivergesig, in Zastron district, where he ran a prosperous dairy.

After the First World War, droughts, other natural disasters and worldwide problems with politics and the economy, things did not go well for the first few years of the 1920s and he was convinced by one of his cousins to test his luck in the diamond fields north of Kimberley – near Lichtenburg.

He left his wife and children behind on Riviergesig. Early in November 1926 a horseman - the postman - delivered a letter to his wife informing her that her husband is seriously ill with pneumonia. She and her son Francois Delarey (*1914) – about 12 years old at the time – immediately left for Lichtenburg by horse-drawn carriage. When they arrived in Lichtenburg two weeks later they were told that he already died on 17 November 1926 and was buried in Lichtenburg.

Francois Delarey, who was with his mother, later related that looking up from the grave to the left he could see the grave of Genl Delarey. His tombstone is a horseman on a horse. The family returned later to look for the grave but couldn't find it. To this day there are doubts as to whether Cornelis was buried in the town's graveyard or the graveyard where the diamond diggers were buried. In fact, the statue of Genl De la Rey stands in front of the city hall of Lichtenburg.

Despite the drama with the diamond digging, Cornelis can be seen as one of the greatest heroes in the annals of the Henning history considering that he, as a fourteen-year-old boy, fought, was wounded and saved the life of his father. He did not qualify for the ABW medal which was awarded in 1920 to Burghers who fought during the war. Today this would have earned him the Honorus Crux in Gold decoration.

Boerepompie shines on YouTube

During December 2020 it became known that the extremely popular Afrikaans song "Boerepompie", that was composed in 2019 by Ricus Nel and sung by him and Snotkop, became only the third song to accumulate more than ten million views on YouTube.

Snotkop, of course, is Francois Henning – a2.b5.c4.d4.e1.f7.g1.h2 – in the Henning Family Chronicle.

'Die Burger' newspaper reported that shortly after the song was released it accumulated more than 100 000 views in just one day.

Snotkop (or Francois Henning) and Ricus Nel after their song "Boerepompie" accumulated more than 10 million views on YouTube

Although the song refers to the different names for a concertina, the ambiguity of the names leaves people rolling with laughter – especially the refrain:

*Everyone likes a boerepompie
(little boer pump)
Take out the Christmas worm
Everyone like a boerepompie
Let the donkey lung bite you
Everyone likes a boerepompie,
In the city or on the farm,
because a boerepompie doesn't care whether short or round, you're going to dance*

Ricus Nel said that it truly feels unreal. He doesn't know what they did right but they obviously did do something right. He thinks that it is the honesty of the song that makes it so popular. What they are singing, is who they, Ricus and Snotkop (Francois Henning), really are.

In the comments on Youtube it is not just Afrikaans or South African music lovers that love the song – it also resonates with listeners in countries such as America, Belgium, Mexico, the Netherlands and Sweden.

The very first Afrikaans music video to get more than 10 million views on YouTube was Rikus Nel’s song “Harde Kole” which he composed during 2016 and performed with Adam Tas, Bok van Blerk and Refentse. After that followed the duet, “Toe vind ek jou” by Francois van Coke and Karen Zoid

Congratulations to Rikus Nel and Francois Henning!

Eugene Henning CEO of Professional Rugby Players

a2.b10.c6.df3.e3.f2.g3. Eugene Henning *23-5-1977 CEO of the professional rugby players union

Recently, one regularly hears in the media about Eugene Henning who makes statements on behalf of professional rugby players. Several people enquired from the Secretary of the League about who this Eugene Henning is. Initially I could not identify him either because we have several Eugene Hennings on record but he did not appear to be any one of the Eugene Hennings that I have contact with. Eventually I browsed the website of the “My Players” organisation and there I found a photo of this Eugene Henning which allowed me to immediately identify him as Eugene Henning, born 23 May 1977, with genealogical number a2.b10.c6.d3.e3.f2.g3.

Eugene was born in Beaufort-West but his parents, eventually, moved to Pietersburg. As a scholar at Pietersburg High School regularly excelled in public speaking competitions, winning provincial and national competitions. He was also the deputy head boy at Pietersburg High School. After matric he studied law at the University of Stellenbosch and in 2001 he was elected as vice chairman of the Student Council. He eventually obtained BCom, LLB and MBA degrees and practised as a legal adviser for Bidvest in the UK. After his return to South Africa he worked in the financial sector and was appointed as the Chief Executive Officer of Rugby for the “My Players” organisation.

Eugene’s ancestors were the last Hennings to live of the farm Elandskraal, in the ward of Acter de Sneewberg in the district of Graaff-Reinett (later incorporated with Cradock). This was the farm of our progenitor Pieter Hendrik Henning.

Genealogy Department at FAK

The Institute for Genealogy of South Africa (GISA), had to close its doors in 2019 due to the fact that it could not generate enough funds to continue existing independently. Genealogy is part of every nation's cultural heritage. It was thus a tragic blow especially for Afrikaners.

In response the Federation of Afrikaans Cultural Associations (FAK) established a department for genealogical research and our friend Isabel Groesbeek, a skilled genealogist, was appointed to manage the department.

After the program "Met 'n Huppel in die Stap" during August 2020 on the KykNET channel (144) featured the Henning Family League, a decision was made to publish an article, in their digital magazine on the website of the FAK, about the League Secretary, Olivier Henning.

The daughter of a2.b1.c8.d14.e2.f1.g2. Pieter Lucas Henning *4-7-1958 and his wife Anneke Dicks, Abby-Gale *Brakpan 9-2-2001, informed us that she and her partner, Joshua Vosloo *28-1-1999, both living in Brakpan, became parents on July 29, 2020 and the name of their boy will be AJ Henning. AJ was born in the Life Dalview Clinic hospital in Dalview, Brakpan.

Deaths

In the past few months we have learnt of the deaths of six Hennings.

Oldest Henning in SA dies

In the Haantjie no 141 of February 2020 we reported about Pearl Sybil Zelda Henning (born Fisher) born December 10, 1919 and celebrated her hundredth birthday. She was the spouse of a2.b5.c5.d8.e2.f5. Gert Frans Henning born 3

November 1916. Her husband, Gert, died in 1988. Aunty Pearl spent her last years in House Esperanza, in the Strand. She survived all her children

The wife of her grandson, Ingar Henning, informed us that Aunty Pearl died on 7th November 2020 – a month before her 101st birthday. This makes her the fifth oldest person in the Henning Family Chronicle. In the Henning Family Chronicle on CD and on the Henning website on the Internet one can find interesting statistics regarding the Henning family – amongst other things a list of the 20 oldest people included in the Henning Family Chronicle. There might be more people older than a hundred years for which we have not been able to obtain the dates of their death.

Pearl Henning *10-12-1919 who died on 7-11-2020 with het grandson, Ingar Henning. Photo was taken on her 99th birthday

Wife of Chairman of the Family League Dies

Johanna Wilhelmina Catharina Henning (born Dippenaar), whose nickname was Wena, was born on 19 February 1936. She was the youngest daughter of Dr Alewijn Dippenaar and his wife Joey and the wife of Gideon Stephanus (Giep) Henning (a2.b7.c8.d8.e1.f4) the current chairman of the Henning Family League. She was born in Gouda (near Tulbagh).

Later, they moved to the Paarl and lived in Pleinstreet across the street from the OKP. Wena first attended Paarl Girls High until standard 8 and then the Higher Commercial School Paarl, where she matriculated. After finishing school she worked for Old Mutual in Pinelands. An interesting little fact: With the inauguration of the Wolraad Woltemade statue in front of the Mutual building, the young Wena Dippenaar had the honour of representing

Gideon Henning, chairman of the Henning Family League and his wife Wena, who died November 5th 2020 in the age of 84 years Old Mutual. In 1956 her brother introduced her to Gideon Henning, a young man from the farm Toekoms in Aliwal-North.

The two fell in love and were married on 6 April 1957 (in those days a holiday known as Van Riebeeck's Day). Initially they live in Vredehoek in Cape Town. Their oldest son Stanley was born there. They decided to move to the Strand because her parents also lived there. That is where they lived for the rest of their lives. Their other two children, Wilhelmina (Wilma) and Bernardus (Bernard), were born in the Strand.

After all the children left home, Gideon was transferred to the head office of the Railways in Johannesburg. Gideon and Wena lived for three years in Birchleigh, Kemptonpark.

After Gideon's retirement they moved back to the Strand.

Wena lived to be 84 years old but unfortunately she suffered from dementia. For more than four years dementia took its toll. Gideon and his team (carers and children) went out of their way to maintain the status quo. It was a long and exhausting dementia journey. Mother Wena passed away on 5 November 2020.

Other deaths

Petra Henning (born Bergh) *26-7-1953, spouse of a2.b1.c3.d12.e10.f4.g2. James Stephenson (Jimmy) Henning *4-6-1950 from the farm Doornfontein in the district of Randfontein died on 24 September 2020. They used to farm on the farm Holfontein in the same district.

Jimmy and Petra have three children, a son Cornelius Jacobus (Connie) and two daughters Engela and Marianne. They also have five grandchildren.

Jimmy says that Petra was his best friend for forty eight years. They have known one another since school days, making it 53 years. She was a real mother for all the children, a hard worker, a farmer and when they started farming she ran the farm shop. She did all the driving around to find spare parts when the men were busy on the farm. She was Jimmy's 4x4 tour-and camping partner over many years. Jimmy thanks our Heavenly Father for the togetherness and conversations. Also that he could care for Petra to the end. He will miss her tremendously, but also wishes for her the rest without pain and anxiety. He will always love her.

James Stephenson (Jimmy) Henning and his wife Petra *26-7-1953 who died September 24th 2020

Roydon Trevor Henning *25-12-1950. During August 2020 we read an article in the “Die Burger” newspaper about a Trevor Henning (69 years old) – a tour bus operator – from George, that died at his house. The article caught my attention and I investigated whether we had Trevor Henning on record and where he fits into the genealogical register.

a2.b1.c6.d11.e3.f1.g3. Roydon Trevor Henning (Trevor) *25-12-1950 and his family. In front: Wanda Henning *28-12-1975 (h2) and Adele Nolte (born Henning) *1-12-1972 (h1). Middle: Father Trevor and mom Elsa (born Piek) *20-6-1951 and Vicky Botha (born Henning) *7-6-1979 (h3) with her daughter, Chinika *26-1-2006. Back: Mynie van den Berg and Marco Henning *20-1-1999, son of Wanda; Chris Nolte *11-2-1976 husband of Adele and Marius Botha *10-12-1974, husband of Vicky

In the article Trevor’s wife, Elsa, three daughters (Adele, Wanda and Vicky) and a son-in-law, Marius Botha are mentioned. However, at the time, we didn’t appear to have Trevor in our records. As an experienced genealogist, I started looking for other clues and noticed that Trevor was a member of the Facebook group “555 Manne van George”. On the Facebook page I also found a number which I called. The person that answered the phone knew about the accident and could immediately give me the telephone number of Trevor’s son in Law, Marius Botha.

Marius was just as helpful and immediately gave me the email address of his wife, Vicky, and his mother-in-law so that I initiate corresponding with them. I was quickly able to determine that Trevor’s full names were Roydon Trevor Henning, born 25 December 1950. We have him and all his ancestors on record and his number in the Henning family register is a2.b1.c6.d11.e3.f1.g3. However we had no information of his wife, children and grand children. We were now able to add his whole family’s information to our records.

Trevor Henning was a tour bus operator and the owner of “Pony Express Coach Hire”. On Thursday morning, 30 July 2020, he was busy working on his tour bus when the jack, apparently, collapsed causing the bus to fall on him.

His daughter, Adele Henning, who was working in her flat on the same property said that she heard a loud bang but didn’t think anything of it as she expected that her father would call if something was wrong.

I heard him working but we all would carry on with what we were busy doing. I didn't think anything was strange about the loud bang. Adele and her mother, Elsa, who returned from work later on found his body.

Trevor was nine and a half years old when his father died. After school he worked in the hotel business for a while. He then became a representative for the BP Oil Company in Port Elizabeth, but was transferred to George in 1989 where he bought the Wimpy take-away in Pacaltsdorp.

During October 1998 he started the tour bus company – Pony Express Coach Hire – which transported local and overseas tourists.

In June 2011 he was involved in an accident, when one of his Quantum buses, inexplicably, caught fire in the Tradouw Pass at Barrydale and he sustained 45% burns to his face and torso. His rehabilitation lasted almost a year.

We also learnt that Trevor's eldest brother, Lourens Johannes (Laurie) Henning, born 23 February 1941, died two week's after Trevor's death on 15 August 2020. Unfortunately we have not been able to obtain any further information from his descendants.

Elizabeth Magdalena Pretorius (Lientjie) (born Henning) * 23 August 1939. She died on 13 December 2020 in Vanderbijlpark. She grew up and went to school in Vryheid. Later on she married Jan Hendrik Pretorius, born 30-6-1942 and they had six children.

Sy died in Sonlabpark Vereeniging on 13 December 2020 from "old timers".

At school she excelled in athletics. When she was young she was a theater nurse at the General Hospital, Johannesburg. Thereafter, she married and the best mother to her six children and wife to her husband. She is survived by her seven brothers and sisters, who will always remember and love her and her children.

Lientjie Pretorius (born Henning *23-8-1939, who died December 13th, 2020

League Secretary Telephone Number

Hennings in New Zealand

a2.b1.c6.d4.e6.f1.g1.h2. Dr Theunis Frederick Philippus (Theuns) Henning *18-9-1967, his wife, Tania (born Kruger) and their two children, John William Ruben *2-6-2006 and Mia Cathrina *18-12-2008

Dr Theuns (Theunis Frederick Philippus) Henning *18 September 1957 (a2.b1.c6.d4.e6.f1.g1.h2) from Auckland, New Zealand informed us that we have not yet included the daughter, Mia Cathrina born 18 December 2008), of him and his wife, Tania (born Kruger), in the family register. She was born in Auckland.

She is their second child. Their eldest is a son, John William Reuben *2-6-2006.

Theuns is a lecturer and researcher in the Department of Civil and Environmental Engineering at the University of Auckland.

Theuns was one of three Hennings from New Zealand who contacted us in one week's time.

The value of “Software Carpentries” for Postgraduate Students

This article might be of interest and value to Hennings who are busy with postgraduate studies.

Most of the readers of Ons Haantjie might have taken note of Dr Jannetta Steyn, daughter of a2.b7.c8.d8.e3.f1. Leonetta Steyn (born Henning) *10 December 1936. She manages the Henning website on the Internet, helped with the establishment of the Virtual Henning Museum and would in all probability take over most of the tasks of the league secretary when I can no longer perform these tasks.

Jannetta is a computer scientist. This Boer daughter works at Newcastle University in England. She completed two computer science related Masters degrees and a PhD in Computational Neuroscience after completing her undergraduate studies in a totally different subject at Potchefstroom University for CHE.

She informed us that she has now, as a hobby, become involved with an organisation called “Software Carpentries”.

A very important concept in the world of computer software is open source. The idea is that the code for the software is open to everybody to read, contribute or re-use. However, open source is not just applicable to computer software, but also to other projects such as learning materials or anything else you can think of where the source of the project is available for use by anybody.

Carpentries is a world-wide organisation that focuses on teaching researchers in all disciplines the basic computer technologies required to do their data analysis. It is especially applicable to non-computer scientists. Computer scientists usually have the computer skills required for their research. However, what about biologists, linguists, engineers, mathematicians or physicists? Believe it or not, but these people do not necessarily have the computer skills and they have to learn those skills to be able to do their own analysis. One of the projects that has been initiated by the Carpentries is Glosario and to quote from the Glosario website:

“glosario is an open source glossary of terms used in data science that is available online and also as a library in both R and Python. By adding glossary keys to a lesson's metadata, authors can indicate what the lesson teaches, what learners ought to know before they start, and where they can go to find that knowledge. Authors can also use the library's functions to insert consistent hyperlinks for terms and definitions in their lessons in any of several (human) languages.”

Since the Carpentries is also active in South Africa, it was decided to include Afrikaans. When the call went out for help with the translations I noticed that Afrikaans was on the list but nobody was contributing yet. I immediately stuck up my hand and said: “Pick me! Pick me!”. And so, despite now being an Englishman, I initiated the Afrikaans translation. My next problem was that there was nobody to review my contributions and contributions always have to be verified by a second person. Fortunately, there is a Carpentries representative in South Africa and we could ask her to help out. So, for the moment it is only the two of us contributing.

Please do have a look at the Glosario website at <https://glosario.carpentries.org/>. And, if you want, you could join us and help with the translation. Because Glosario is an open source project, the “insides” of the project can be viewed at <https://github.com/carpentries/glosario/>.

Because it is a somewhat complex process to contribute, I am busy writing a program that can hopefully make things slightly easier. I hope to release the program soon.

Money matters

For the last thirty-six years the Henning Family League has survived on the voluntary donations we receive from well-meaning Hennings and other members of the Family League. We were thus able to develop into one of the most organized family leagues in the country.

Expenses such as computers, printers, scanners, office equipment, stationery as well as internet services and the maintenance of the Henning website on the Internet, exhibition material for Henning festivals or other genealogical exhibitions, printing of newsletters and postage all require a great deal of money. The largest increase has been the cost of ink cartridges. One set of cartridges for the printing of one newsletter on paper costs us almost R2000.00. This is for the sixty people who do not have access to the Internet.

Please, even a small one will do

We hope that all Hennings and married family members will consider sending a donation, however small, to the family league at least once a year. Because we know that not all Hennings are equally wealthy, we leave it up to everyone to decide for themselves how much they can afford to contribute. There have always been a few members who make large donations of several thousand Rands, but the majority of people contribute amounts ranging between R50.00 and R500.00 per year. Then there are members who contribute a small affordable amount every month (even as little as R30.00) through a debit order. After a while a member might not even miss such a small amount from their account but, for the Family League it is a valuable contribution.

After our last Haantjie appeared the following Hennings responded and we would like to thank them very much:

1. The four member that regularly contribute by debit order are mr Jan Hendrik Henning from Glenstantia, Pretoria, mrs Gesina Spangenberg from Tsumeb, Namibia, mrs Runa (R T) van Straaten from Pretoriuspark, Pretoria and Pastor Antonie Henning from Daspoort, Pretoria.
2. The following people have sent us contributions in the last three months:
 - Mrs Marlene Henning-Page from Pietersburg/Polokwane – R500.00
 - J A (Albert) Henning-Wisniewski from Uvongo - R150.00
 - Mrs Pauline Castle from Carterton, Wairarapa, New-Zealand – R530.00 (after all bank and exchange costs were deducted)
 - One of the many Johan Henning's that we have on record – R200.00
 - M M (Mauritz) Henning from Theresapark, Pretoria-Noord – R100.00 after he made several other contributions during 2020.
 - Mrs Linda van Tonder from Ferndale – R200.00
 - Mrs E M Dirker from Kochspark - R200.00
 - JJP (Jan) Henning from Bloemfontein – R200.00
 - T P (Flip) Henning and his wife Tania from Ermelo – R250.00

We would therefore like to make a serious appeal to all people who receive the Ons Haantjie newsletter to consider sending a donation to the Henning Family League at least once a year. If you remember your membership number you can use that as your reference. Otherwise you can use your name but please send us an email (to olie4@henning.org) or WhatsApp or Telegram at 082 355 3801 to inform us that you have transferred funds to the bank account of the family league. That will enable us to make sure that we know exactly who made the contribution – especially for people with popular family names such as Johan, Johannes, Pieter, Jan, Gert etc.

Our bank details are on the next page.

FAK Genealogical Festival 10 April 2021

The Federation of Afrikaans Cultural Associations (FAK) is planning a large genealogical festival on 10 April 2021 at the Voortrekker Monument in Pretoria.

Due to the FAK's involvement with the participation of the Henning Family League in the "Huppel in die Stap" program that was broadcasted on 12 July 2020 on KykNet, we would like for the Henning Family League to take part but, as you will probably understand, this will cost us a few thousand Rand.

We thus hope that donations will start flowing so that our finances, by April 2021, will allow us to take part in this festival at the Voortrekker Monument in Pretoria.

How's this for size!
For Hennings nothing is impossible!
